MUD WAS KNEE DEEP.

Hard March of Gen. MacArthur's Men.

Story of Defeat of Filipinos Near San Fernando.

Noted Filipino Fakir Was Captured.

Natives Compelled to Flee Under Fire of Artillery.

Manila, August 9, 7.10 p. m.—Details of the movement forward of Gen. MacArthur's troops yesterday shows that the Americans advanced five miles in the first five hours and at 2 o'clock had advanced six miles along the railway, stretching on each side of it for two miles and resting at night three miles from Angeles which will be made the northern base of operations instead of San Fernando where a garrison of 600 men has been left. The casualties are between thirty and forty. The Filipinos were surprised, expecting the American forces to move against Tio. They followed their usual tactics of holding their trenches until they became too warm and then retreating in disorder. They are now falling back westward toward Porio. The twelfth and seventeenth regiments had the sharpest engagement. The country our troops passed over is covered with rice fields and bamboo thickets, the hardest possible ground for marching. The mud, in places, was knee deep. Angeles is one of the richest towns north of Manila and is considered to be a better base of operations than San Fernando. The forces at San Fernando consisted of the Iowa regiment, the seventeenth regiment, the ninth regiment, the twelfth regiment, the new 34th regiment, a battalion of the sixteenth regiment, troops of the 4th cavalry and fifteen guns. The movement was planned some time ago, but was delayed by heavy rains. Finally two days of sunshine dried the rice fields sufficiently to warrant the attempt. The position of the Americans has long been unpleasant. The rebels almost surrounded the town and fired almost nightly into it. The Americans not replying except on extreme provocation. Plans were necessary to keep 500 or 600 men on outpost duty against the Capangas with a provost guard, last night captured a noted Filipino fakir, with several aliases, who, by means of ventriloquism, had persuaded the natives that he had supernatural power. He raised money ostensibly for the insurance, which he kept for himself. Our soldiers surrounded his house and cornered him. Many other escaped. The troops also captured one thousand dollars, immovable, as the fakir is generally known, has been predicting the fall of Manila. His "prophecies" have created excitement among the natives who believed in them. Reports from rebel sources say that 100 Filipinos were killed in the battle on August 8. The rebels were routed and the subsequent skirmishes.

The American loss in the fighting about San Fernando at 2 o'clock was known to be eight men killed and twenty-six wounded. The loss may possibly exceed these figures as the line is five miles long and it is impossible at this hour to hear from every point. Our troops were about Angeles waiting for the artillery which has the greatest difficulty in moving, owing to the wet ground. The attack was opened at 5 o'clock in this morning, a battery of the first artillery shelling the town on the left. Simultaneously the thirty-sixth artillery struck the town from the rear and drove the rebels out. Artillery cars each with a six pounder and two galling revolving cannon on board, then moved out on the railroad track, in the center of our lines. Soon afterwards the sharp execution. Battery K of the third artillery and a hundred men of the Iowa regiment made a feint towards Mexico, while the main body of troops, consisting of the Iowa regiment and battalion of the twelfth regiment under Gen. Wheaton on the right, and the ninth regiment, twelfth regiment, and the 34th regiment, under Gen. Liscom on the left advanced steadily, pouring their fire into the rebels and receiving a heavy fire in return. The rebels were well protected by trenches and seemed not to lack ammunition. They were unable, however, to withstand for any length of time the hail of shots our artillery and infantry poured in on them, and retreating, leaving dead and wounded on the field. A dozen prisoners were captured by our troops. The reports indicate that the ninth infantry suffered the most, though the casualties, though the weather was extremely hot and our troops suffered greatly but there was no faltering. A company of the 16th regiment went to the relief of the 9th regiment.

this afternoon. According to reports, the insurgents are harassing the line in the rear. The firing, except at isolated points had ceased by 10 o'clock.

REPORT OF BATTLE CONFIRMED.
Washington, August 9.—A dispatch from Gen. Otis confirms the report of the defeat of the Filipinos at San Fernando by Gen. MacArthur's division.

NOTED BY INSURGENTS.
Manila, August 9.—The steamer Saturnus of the Compania Maritima, coasting near the American flag, was discovered and seized by the United States gunboat Pampano, beached at San Fernando under the insurgent trenches there. The steamer was boarded by an armed boat crew and the passengers were taken off. The cargo consisting of general merchandise and $100,000 in specie, had been seized. Several attempts to tow the Saturnus off were unsuccessful. The Pampano then left San Fernando in search of further assistance, whereupon the insurgents returned and set fire to the vessel. The United States gunboat arrived here yesterday after bombarding San Fernando. The Saturnus, she reported, was still smoldering and was a total wreck.

FOUR LIVES LOST.
By Fire in a Chemical House in Omaha.

Omaha, Neb., August 9.—Four firemen lost their lives here tonight at a blaze on an upper floor of the Meper Chemical company's building. The fire itself was insignificant, the fatalities resulting from contact with a live wire. The dead men are:
Joseph Adams, lieutenant.
Otto Glick, tillerman.
George Betson, pipeman.
Charles Hopper, relief driver.
Fireman George Farmer and Albert Langstone of the chemical company also suffered severely from shock.

DEENDER BEATEN BADLY.
The Columbia Walks Away from Old Yacht.

Newport, R. I., August 9.—The second run of the New York yacht club cruise from Gardiner's Bay to this port today, a distance of 43 miles, while full of interesting brush, was not quite as satisfactory as the first one, for the constantly increasing southwest breeze the first of the day was heavy and many a boat received more than one credit for a seemingly glorious victory. It is no disparagement therefore of the new cup defender Columbia to say that her defeat of Defender by over 22 minutes, was due more to bad judgment and hard luck of the latter boat, which left her in a spot not to actual superiority. Still, the new boat showed herself very able in a board race with a constantly increasing breeze, and made an average of fully 13 knots in the run along shore from Watch Hill to Point Judith. So rapidly did she drop Defender that when she gybed round the whistling buoy off Point Judith, her rival was half down to the westward over five miles astern. On the run from Point Judith, and before the wind, the Columbia gained a minute or two more, so that at the finish the old defender had received the worst beating in her history.

THIRD MAINE REUNION.
Bath, August 9.—The annual reunion of the Third Regiment association was held today at Merry meeting Park. A public session, therefore, will take place Saturday morning. The dossier consists of about 60 documents, of which 50 were disposed of yesterday. Washington, August 9.—The hurricane which has been raging in a portion of the West Indies evidently has, according to reports received by the weather bureau, left those islands and shifted into the open sea to the north of Porto Rico. The expectation is that the storm will be dissipated without doing further damage. Cable communication which was interrupted in the path of the storm has been resumed.

The interior and exterior decorations were of fine arrangement, the pavilion being a garden of palms and evergreen. The national colors were everywhere displayed and the scenes was one to awaken pride and arouse the patriotic spirit. The reception was from 4 until 7 and was attended by at least a thousand people, the elite of Bar Harbor society.

BURN PLENTY OF RED FIRE

President's Idea of a Celebration.

Washington Will Give Dewey Great Reception.

The Parade Will Be a Monster Affair.

Plans for Taking the President's Advice.

Washington, August 9.—"Gentlemen, burn plenty of red fire." That was President McKinley's emphatic admonishment to the representatives of the citizens of the district when they called to consult with him regarding the arrangements for the reception to Admiral Dewey upon his arrival in Washington.

When the Chief Executive of the nation views the city on the night of Dewey Day, he will find that his injunction has been carried out faithfully.

Admiral Dewey will be escorted to the capital on the day the nation's sword is to be presented to him by a committee. That night there will be a monster parade. Every organization in the District of Columbia will be invited to participate. Every military body, all the civil, fraternal, patriotic, social and benevolent societies and the bicyclists will be included.

An energetic effort will be made to have each body in line make some distinctive illumination. For President McKinley's red fire accompaniment plans are already being considered. There will be a large number of tin holders, secured in which the red fire can be safely burned during the passage of the parade. These holders will be large pans attached to arms, at the end of which will be strong clamps that will permit their being attached to lamp posts, electric light poles, telegraph poles, awning posts and trees. The red fire will be placed in pans and lighted as the parade approaches.

Citizens along the line of the parade will be urged to illuminate and decorate their premises and the gas company and the electric company will be asked to co-operate.

SEVEN PERSONS KILLED.
A Canadian Express Train Leaves the Track.

Ottawa, Ont., August 9.—The Ottawa express which left Montreal at 9:10 o'clock this morning for this city on the Canada Atlantic railroad, was wrecked near Coteau Junction, while running at a fast rate. The engine left the track taking with it the baggage car and a second-class coach. The first-class coach and two Pullmans did not leave the track. Seven persons were killed. The dead are:

George McCaul, Ottawa, fireman.
Wilson O'Connor, Ottawa.
Edward Starnes, Ottawa.
Miss Hyan, Manitowish, Que.
Joseph Rocheton.
Miss Rocheton, all of Montreal.

A number were injured, but none of them seriously. The passengers were brought here on a special train tonight. It is not known what caused the accident, but it is believed that the rails had spread.

WHEEL MEN AT MONTREAL.
Montreal, August 9.—The world's cycling championship meet of the international cyclists union under the auspices of the Canadian Wheelmen's association, opened today on the Queen's Park track. There was only one world's championship event on the card, that at one mile and fell to Tom Summerville, of the Leeds A. C., England, who won it in a brilliant finish from Earl Peabody of Chicago and John Caldwell, the Scotch champion.

BAKER FAMILY IN BOSTON.
Boston, August 9.—Three thousand people paid 10 cents admission to Fenway Temple tonight to see Miss Jewett and the Baker family. Mrs. Baker furnished the sensation of the evening. While John W. Hutchinson, the white-haired anti-slavery singer, was singing his song, "The Fatherhood of God and the Brotherhood of Man," Mrs. Baker experienced religious exaltation. She dropped her little son, Willie, who had been sleeping in her arms, and strode around the platform rolling her eyes and waving her arms. A dozen people conducted her to a seat.

Rev. Mr. Adams presided and among the other speakers were Rev. Justin D. Fulton and Miss Jewett.

START FOR MANILA.

ROBBERIES FREQUENT.

More Testimony Regarding Crimes in New York.

New York, August 9.—Almost all of the testimony elicited at the meeting of the Mazet investigating committee was for the purpose of showing how frequently men are robbed in this city, while paying visits to "The Tenderloin," "The Bowery" and other sections of the city where groups gather after the mid-night hour. Mr. Moss had difficulty in obtaining witnesses for today's session. The men who had been victims of this sort of crime, appeared decidedly averse to appearing before the committee and telling about it. Two hundred and fifty subpoenas have been issued for men who have been robbed by women. Not a quarter of these men could be found. Nevertheless Mr. Moss was able to put witnesses upon the stand and secure account after account of robberies alleged to have occurred in disorderly houses in this city. Once again the witness under oath told of facts which appeared to show collusion between the police and the feminine robbers. Mr. Moss announced that similar testimony with variations would be produced before the committee tomorrow. The variations it is understood refer to an investigation of the optimum class of the city which it is said Mr. Moss contemplates making.

Meeting of the City Government Last Evening.

There was a meeting of the city government of South Portland last evening which was presided over by Mayor Reynolds and the absentees were Aldermen Spear, Elton and Davis. The records of two or three previous meetings were read and approved after which Alderman Fickett made a report of the matter of the new floor for the High school building.

Permission was granted H. E. Willard to lay a tile drain crossing and N. E. Gordon was allowed to enter Dyer street sewer in front of his new house.

A petition was received from H. E. Willard and others praying that Deane street in Willard be extended and made straight and be put in condition for public travel. Referred to the committee on streets.

George M. Stanwood and others asked for an extension of the Sebago water supply and the placing of hydrants for fire purposes from Higgins Brothers on the Barren Hill road along said road to or near the property of Patrick Clancy.

This matter was referred to the special committee having in charge the extension of the water supply.

The ordinance relating to the collection of offal, etc., which was introduced July 20 was discussed and final passage was postponed.

The illness was due to heart trouble which Mr. Marriner suffers from at intervals, although it has been some years now since he was affected in a serious manner.

English Journalism.

Walter Wellman says that one short story will illustrate the spirit of English journalism better than any amount of generalism and quotes Moberley Bell, the editor of the London Times, as saying: "We would at any time stop one press and make new stereotype plates to correct a typographical error, but we would not stop our machines to get in a late piece of news, no matter how important or sensational. We could print that the next day without any bother."

Obsolete Words in 1790 in Use Today.

"As I was passing a secondhand bookshop one day recently," said the man who buys books, "I saw three old volumes of Thomson's plays—you know, the man who wrote 'The Seasons'—lying with a pile of 100 cent books. They were published in 1790, and the plays were played by Mrs. Woffington, Mr. Garrick, Mr. Sheridan and Mr. and Mrs. Cibber.

"What interested me really more than the plays was a list of obsolete words used in a long poem in one volume—a list of words with their definitions—and I was struck by the fact that a great many of the words that were obsolete in 1790 and had to be defined to Thomson's readers are in common use today. Appall, dertly, fays, gle, carol, scar and unkempt are only a few that I recall.

"There was one word, however, in the list that is still obsolete and ought to be revived. It is the word 'swink' and it means to labor. I think it's a beautiful word. Doesn't it convey the impression of earning one's living in the sweat of one's brow, though? It's a word the language needs, and I mean to do all I can to make the word popular again. It sounds like a word invented by Lewis Carroll, but it isn't. It's a well descended, well connected word, and it ought to be revived. 'Swink'! Could anything be more full of meaning?"—Washington Post.

An Unimpeachable Witness.

Referring to a photograph as a deposition of the "unimpeachable sun," a Missouri judge says: "To me it is a very comforting thought and pleasing reflection that amid all the vicissitudes and pressing exigencies of railroad damage suits they have never yet attempted to impeach 'Old Sol.' Perhaps they were deterred by his shining reputation. At any rate, from his serene seat in the heavens, from his calm on high, he still looks down upon the many populations of earth with the same burning eye, wherewithal erstwhile he gazed down upon Ananias that time he went in before the apostle, and lied to the Holy Ghost."—Case and Comment.

General Miles is sixty. Some people have thought he was acting like it.

The wheat crop in Manitoba is so great that the farmers have doubts about being able to harvest it. The premier of the province has issued an official call for laborers.

It seems that Tammany Hall has captured the Dewey reception in New York, and is arranging to give the profits of the business part of it to the heeler. But it might be a great reception in spite of that.

John R. McLaughlin has begun picking up delegates in Ohio for the coming Democratic state convention. Mr. McLaughlin takes a hard stand when he goes after a delegate, and he expects to get about all he goes after this fall.

William C. Whitney, who has returned from Europe, declines to say anything about politics and intimates that he neither knows nor cares what the Democratic party is about. Mr. Whitney is one of the many capable leaders whom the party has drifted away from.

The London Spectator thinks an outrage like the explosion of dynamite by the Buffalo strikers would have been impossible in England. It is not so many years, however, since there was an attempt to blow up Parliament, and the history of English Trades Unions has records of violence quite equal to any we have in this country.

The Blagovest trolley smash-up shows that the light little cars on which all have felt so safe have their tricks also. All trolley roads are not built with thoroughness, and the running of them has not been reduced to the careful basis which distinguishes the older steam roads. The trolley cars undoubtedly are less liable to serious accidents than the heavier and swifter steam cars with the care used in running them is the same.

It seems hardly probable that the election in Maryland this fall will give any comfort to ex-Senator Gorman and the Democrats. There has been a strong factional fight in the Republican party in that state, Senator Wellington being unpopular with a certain element. But at a mass convention in Allegheny county on Tuesday there was a public reconciliation of the leaders of the warring factions. This is interpreted as a sign favorable to the reelection of Governor Lowmeyer, who apparently has made an excellent chief executive.

There seems to be quite a determined effort on foot to displace Bryan with Van Wyck, of New York. To assist in this a story has been put about that Bryan, while in Congress, refused to vote for Crisp for Speaker because the latter had been a confederate soldier. This story or something else, is having considerable effect in the South, where some quite prominent Democrats are looking kindly toward Van Wyck. One, if not both, of the Van Wyck brothers was educated at the University of North Carolina, and they have always had friendly relations with southern people.

The New York Tribune expresses satisfaction at the assurance of the Attorney General that the notorious case of Captain Carter is to proceed to a conclusion. Captain Oberlin M. Carter was on May 12, 1898, convicted by a court martial, presided over by General Ellwell S. Otis, of fraud in connection with the improvement of Savannah harbor, and was sentenced to be dismissed from the army, to be imprisoned for five years and to pay a fine of $5,000, and the publication of his crime and sentence in the newspapers of his home town for one year was ordered. The Tribune says that ever since May 12, 1898, that sentence has been suspended, while one sort of review or another was being taken by some person or other. Political influence is probably back of the delay, as the Tribune intimates. It is a very unfortunate thing for the army, to say nothing of the parties concerned.

The plan of Portuguese residents of New England for a celebration of the four hundredth anniversary of the discovery of the passage to India by Vasco de Gama calls to mind the fact that Portugal was the pioneer in the business of scouring colonies. De Gama sailed around Good Hope and found an ocean route to India. He returned to Lisbon in 1499, and a few years later went back again, dying while viceroy of India in 1524. Through the efforts of De Gama and his adventurous successors Portugal gained colonies all over the world. In time Spain took them from Portugal, and Philip II ruled over a domain that was the admiration of the world, when he went into trouble with Holland and England over a matter of religion. Holland took some of his colonies, England took others, some revolted and set up as nations by themselves, and last year the United States swept clean all but the Carolinas. These Germany has bought, and both Spain and Portugal stand today in the matter of colonies practically where they were before the days of De Gama.

Portland is much interested in an examination which a New York commission is making into the shipping facilities of various Atlantic ports. As is well known New York has been losing considerable of her export trade, and last year Governor Black appointed a commission to investigate the subject. That commission has been devoting considerable attention to Boston, which is, of course, a more considerable rival of New York than a relatively small port like Portland. Yet some of the conditions which have given Boston an advantage are operating also here. Both Boston and New York draw the larger part of their grain traffic from the Lakes by way of Buffalo, and the rates of freight are the same. But New York does not have the advantage of railway lines terminating at the water. The grain has to be lightered to the steamer, and this makes a cost of about three cents a bushel, which the shippers have to pay. In Boston, on the other hand, the immense grain elevators of the Boston & Maine and Fitchburg are capable of unloading cars at the rate of one hundred and fifty in ten hours, and of filling steamers at the rate of two hundred thousand bushels in eleven hours. The Boston & Maine handles in Boston considerable business from Montreal also, the Boston & Maine taking from that point grain that has been brought to Parry Sound, on the extreme eastern end of Georgian Bay, and then taken by railroad to the St. Lawrence at a point a little above Montreal. Portland's grain shipments come entirely by the sea, and in this elevator service at the water's edge we have the same advantage that Boston has. We also have the advantage of a shorter haul from Montreal; and it is very probable that our harbor offers better advantages for an increase of terminal facilities than does Boston. It is difficult to see how either New York or Boston can keep a constantly increasing business from coming to Portland.

—Rev. Dr. Joshua Young, who is a guest at Pratt's Neck, is the clergyman who officiated at John Brown's funeral, forty years ago. His home is at Groton, Mass., but he is a native of Randolph, Maine, a graduate of Bowdoin college in the class of 1845, and of the divinity school of Harvard in 1848. He was pastor at Burlington, Vt., when the raid on Harper's Ferry occurred. His participation in the affair, as told by himself to a correspondent of the Boston Herald, gives an interesting view of what it cost to befriend the slave, even in New England: "I had never met John Brown, but was a firm abolitionist, and thoroughly in sympathy with his purpose. For 11 years I was a member of the vigilance committee, and belonged to the abolition society at the time the fugitive slave act was under consideration in Boston. In Burlington I was what was termed the 'station keeper' of the underground railroad, taking a part in the transfer of fugitive slaves from one state to another. I harbored at my home many a slave. It was not difficult for me to render assistance to escaping slaves, for I was very near the Canadian border.

"After Brown's execution, and I learned that his body was to be brought to his home at North Elba, I was determined to attend the funeral. I was accompanied on the trip by Mr. G. Bigelow, one of my Burlington parishioners, an enthusiastic abolitionist. It was a long, hard, midwinter journey. We started in the midst of a northeast rain, and when we reached there it was snowing hard. We traveled by cart roads through the blazed woods, and nearly perished from the cold. Had I not been a young and vigorous man, I never could have withstood the rigors of that long and perilous ride.

"We reached North Elba about 9 o'clock in the morning, and the burial took place at 1 o'clock in the afternoon. I happened to be the only minister there, and at the earnest request of the family I performed the usual funeral service. There were present at the service the widows of four members of Brown's party. When the remains were escorted from the house to the great boulder, beside which the grave had been dug, Wendell Phillips took the arm of John Brown's widow, Mr. McKim supported the widow of Oliver Brown, I offered my arm to Mrs. Watson Brown, and Mr. Bigelow of Burlington escorted the Widow Thompson to the grave.

"One incident I had cause to particularly remember, because it was so often afterward buried in my face. At the grave John Brown's widow gave way to her sorrow, and as a solace to her grief I repeated the scriptural passage: 'I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith; henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness.'"

"The newspapers published very fully the details connected with the funeral service, and my critics wanted to know how I could claim that John Brown had fought a good fight, and what he had done to entitle him to a crown of righteousness. It is not pleasant to recall the treatment I received from former friends after the funeral. Being naturally a sensitive man, I suffered a great deal from the rebuffs I received. Many persons who had been exceedingly friendly to me abandoned me on the streets, and some of my parishioners would pass me without a sign of recognition. My professional brethren volunteered the opinion that I had ruined for life my chances as a minister of the gospel, and I was informed that some people of the town had expressed the sentiment that I ought to be 'strung up as high as old John Brown.'"

"A dissolution of my relations with the church at Burlington was an outcome of my connection with the Brown funeral, but I continued in the ministry, despite the predictions that I would never again find a pastorate. The feeling against abolitionists was as strong in some portions of the North in those days as it was in the South. The sentiment was stronger in Vermont than in Massachusetts, for, owing to their nearness to New York, Vermonters naturally followed in New York's trend of sentiment, rather than patterning after the people of Massachusetts.

—The trouble in the election of directors for the Bangor, Oldtown and Orono electric railroad will probably bring before the courts a will question. Two tickets were presented to the stockholders: The Real ticket, so-called, containing the names of Elias Milliken of Augusta, F. O. Deal of Bangor, John Cassidy of Bangor, A. J. Durgin of Orono, George T. S. Wall of Oldtown, W. L. Sorinier of Springfield, John G. Dunham of Bangor; and the Milliken ticket containing the names of Elias Milliken, John Cassidy, I. C. Libby of Waterville, A. J. Durgin, G. T. Sewall, Mrs. Elias Milliken, M. S. Holway of Augusta. Of undoubted fact, the Real faction had 40, and the Milliken faction 40. But there were 250 shares of which the ownership was disputed, and by the use of these shares the Milliken faction triumphed. The Bangor Whig gives this statement of the dispute over the shares: Two years ago, after repairs and various expenses, the company found themselves in debt $35,000. There were in the treasury at that time 250 shares of stock and it was proposed to sell these shares, the stock being then at 130, the road paying 12 per cent dividends. A sale of that number of shares at that figure would have resulted in realizing $32,500. President Milliken said that the sacrifice of stock at that figure would not be a business proposition and volunteered to loan the money needed at 6 per cent interest, taking the stock as collateral. This would result in the saving of 6 per cent yearly. The directors considered this a good business proposition and it was voted to accept the offer of Mr. Milliken. The treasurer, I. C. Libby, gave a collateral note which, it is claimed by the Milliken faction, permitted of the selling of 250 shares of stock without notice to the directors or the stockholders. The Real faction, however, claim that it was the duty of the president to notify the directors of the sale of stock, if it was decided upon, and allow the directors to determine what should be done, as they regarded the stock as only security. It appears that President Milliken advertised the sale of 250 shares of stock at the office of M. S. Holway, Esq., in Augusta, June 20, 1899, the advertisement appearing in the Kennebec Journal, but the directors and stockholders not having been notified, as the Whig understands. At this sale the shares in question were sold to M. S. Holway of Augusta for 20 cents on a dollar. The Real faction claim that this was not a bona fide sale of the stock and that Mr. Holway cannot be recognized as a stockholder, the 250 shares being simply held as collateral and subject to the action of the directors. Meanwhile the Milliken faction hold the organization of the road and are running it. It is said that last year the electric road paid all running expenses, the interest on bonds and $1000 was applied to the floating debt.

—The justices of the Supreme Court have given the opinion that the act relating to the appointment of legal examiners requires the appointment of examiners by the Governor upon recommendation of the chief justice on or before July 1, 1899, to hold office for the terms of one, two, three, four and five years respectively, beginning September 1, 1900, when it is expressly provided by the act itself that it shall take effect, except so far as relates to the appointment of examiners. The judges also give the opinion that the commission of the examiners should be for their respective terms beginning September 1, 1900. This decision will necessitate the calling in of the commissions which have already been sent out and the making out of new ones dating September 1, 1900. Thus the office without any duties, of which so much has been written, is abolished. Mr. Leslie C. Cornish will probably be elected chairman of the board, and the expiration of the commission will undoubtedly be reappointed for the longest term.

—Branswick Telegraph: "O. T. Despresaux is breaking the record in jockeying. He hasn't succeeded in suppressing the rum business in Cumberland county and probably doesn't expect to, but that they are making it warm for the varmints may be judged from the fact that the amount received up to August 1st from the sale of empty liquor casks and the sale of hard liquor amounts in round numbers to $1073. And this means a pile of liquor confiscated. They are camping on the rum sellers and driving them out of business which means considerable more. O. T. Despresaux has already broken the record and he hasn't fairly begun yet."

—Secretary of the Navy Long is at Buckfield, the old neighbors are calling him "Johnnie," and he is perfectly contented and comfortable.

—The frost in West Bridgton Tuesday morning completes the record to date of a frost every month this year in some portion of Maine.

—The large testimonial party which accompanied Hon. J. W. Wakefield to Poland Springs, Tuesday, shows that in their opinion he is still the Unconquered King of Bath.

CURRENT COMMENT.

SPEAKER REED'S SILENCE.

(Boston Herald.) We attach little importance to the suggestion recently made that as Mr. Thomas H. Reed has not resigned his seat in Congress, it may be his intention to recoup it, after all. We do not believe he has any such purpose. But suppose he does continue through the next Congress. The nation will thus have still in its service one of the ablest public men. Mr. Reed might not be elected speaker again; one of our important western exchanges takes occasion to declare that he could not be the movement for Mr. Henderson as his successor having gone too far to be abandoned. This is not to be taken as quite sure, however. If he were not again chosen to the chair, on the floor Mr. Reed would be a very interesting figure, and it might be useful on as well. The nation would be likely to profit by the intellect and experience that his presence would bring into action there.

BLESSING RACE HORSES.
A famous race takes place every year at the old Tuscan town Siena. The course is an irregular oval lying along the steep hillside and as the curvies often degenerate into corners and parts of the course are paved, accidents are to be expected, says the New York Telegraph. Siena is divided for municipal purposes into "wards" and each ward enters a horse the evening before the race. The horse and his jockey are escorted with great ceremony to the church of the ward, where the two are solemnly blessed by the priest. If the animal happens to be a mare she wears a white cap during the ceremony of blessing. The men ride bareback and each carries a blunt dagger, with which it is permissible to attack other jockeys or horses.

Use of the weapon is practically confined to the start, when those who know they have no chance of winning devote themselves to the congenial work of attacking any horse that has, which is painful for the favorite, unless he succeeds in jumping away with the lead the moment the rope used as "starting gate" is lowered. Intense jealousy seems to be the most conspicuous feeling about the race. When the winning jockey slips off his horse at the post he is immediately surrounded by a body of sendmies, who escort him away lest the people of the defeated wards should try to kill him.

In the evening the winner and jockey are escorted to the ward church to be blessed again. With this order of sanctity about the Siena race should be free from lust of gain and fairly run at least. Sad to say this is far from being the case. The jockeys are, according to the defeated wards, double dyed traitors, who have sold the motive over and over again to pull and impede in this or that interest.

The only feature of uncertainty in the race, which is said to be "arranged" by the ward authorities beforehand, is the dishonesty of the jockey, who if bribed not to win, sometimes pockets the money and gives way to the temptation to catch the judge's eye and let his horse out.

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

THE GEM.

There is no distinction in the number of theatre-goers anxious to witness the comedy "The Senator," at the Gem theatre, as is proven by the audiences during the first half of the present week. There are many scenes of uncommon strength and interest in this play. Perhaps the masterpiece of them all is the interview between Senator Rivers and the Count Von Strahl in the last act. The senator has heard of the disgraceful conduct and numerous escapades of the Austrian statesman and determines to put a check on his career by inducing him to resign his portfolio and return whence he came. The count visits the senator in response to a request made by the latter, and after the customary salutations have been gone through with, the congressman from the West, in his square manner, invites his guest to partake of a cocktail. The count is furious at the audacity and interference of Rivers, and indignantly declines. "I am sorry for you; I have always believed there is hope for a man if he will take a drink," remarks Rivers, as he tosses off the stimulant. Then without waste of words, Senator Rivers tells his caller that the best thing he can do is to promptly tender his resignation, and so able an argument does Rivers make, that when it is terminated, the count agrees to do as bidden. Then Senator Rivers again proposes a cocktail and this time the count, his self-confidence completely shattered by reason of the superior mentality and high purpose of the other man, gladly consents. The actors in this scene at the Gem are Mr. Barrows and George F. Farren and, as before stated, they make it of quite the strongest situation in the play.

MCCULLUM'S THEATRE.

One who attends the performances of "Human Hearts," the beautiful play that is the attraction at McCullum's theatre this week, cannot help thinking how delightful it is to get away from worries and troubles and spend an evening with the homely, but mostly honest, characters in this charming play. There is much of interest and amusement in "Human Hearts." There are the first and second acts representing one of those delightful and hospitable old homesteads as found only in New England. When the story begins one sees the happy family of Samuel Hogan all busy with the household work in the room used for that purpose. The ironing and the churning and the morning call of the neighbor's daughter are all natural scenes in any village home, and outside the farm with its fragrance of new mown hay and its atmosphere of pastoral life, makes one almost forget he is at a theatre. There are some splendid character creations given by several members of the company.

The sale of seats is very large for the remaining performances and tickets can be obtained in advance at Sawyer's store, Monument square.

"The Stockbroker," a comedy drama in four acts, will be the next attraction.

RIVERTON PARK.

An afternoon or evening spent at Riverton park this week will be remembered and referred to as one of the pleasantest amusement excursions of the summer. The beautiful park is now in its most glorious beauty and it would be indeed hard to find a more pleasant or picturesque spot to spend a few hours and get away from the cares of business or the anxiety of home affairs than this charming resort affords. The entertainment offered by the management will rank with the best ever seen there, and certainly is deserving of the distinction of being the most refined, interesting and amusing of the present season. First, the Fiddlers, the brilliant lady orchestra, are doing their very best this week and their concert which are different every day, are a source of the greatest pleasure. The engagement at Riverton Park has had a tendency to make the amusement lovers of this city extremely fond of music and no one has been found who can present this portion of an entertainment with more effect or in better taste than this orchestra, that is a permanent feature of the summer amusement offered by the railroad and steamboat lines in this city. The New York Vandeville club is composed of all-star artists and their specialties provoke constant laughter and applause. Arrello, the brilliant and daring square quartette, in a pleasing and humorous singing specialty; the Prentiss Trio, acrobats, and the singing and dancing comedians, make a hit at each performance and so do the musical comedians, Carr and McLeod, whose acts are one of the features of the bill. The entertainment surpasses any week of the season, the merit of the performance winning the enthusiastic praise of all who see it.

OBITUARY.

ERVIN READ.

Ervin Read, one of the oldest, best-known and most highly respected citizens of Portland, Me., died Tuesday, Aug. 8, at his residence, No. 25 Park Place, in that city, of general debility. His death removes the last of the charter members of Union Lodge, No. 10, A. F. and A. M., of which he was a Past Master.

The deceased was born in Westbrook, Me., April 11, 1817, but he removed to Portland when he was a boy. After attending the public schools he learned the trade of a tinsmith with his uncle, John H. Read, who at that time conducted an establishment in the John B. Read block at the corner of Main street and Jenks lane. After completing his apprenticeship, Mr. Read continued in his uncle's employ, finally being placed in charge of the shop. About the year 1832, on the death of his uncle, Mr. Read succeeded him in the business. At the close of the war, his son, J. Sewell Read, who had been at the Portsmouth Navy Yard during the Rebellion, returned to Portland, and entered into partnership with his father, under the firm name of Ervin Read & Son. This business was carried on in the rear of the old Le Favour block on High street, for some time, but was finally removed to the rear of East avenue, at which place Mr. Read continued to conduct the business until failing health compelled him to retire. His son withdrew from the firm about 10 years ago, and after that Mr. Read continued the business alone.

Mr. Read was of a quiet, unassuming nature, and although a staunch Republican he never took any active part in politics. At the time the old "Hay Cart," the machine now belonging to the Pawtucket Veteran Firemen, became a part of the fire-lighting apparatus of Portland, Mr. Read took an active interest, and with William Jeffers put it in condition to take a leading place among the machines of that description. Besides being a member of Union Lodge he belonged to Holy Sepulchre Commandery, No. 8, and Pawtucket Royal Arch Chapter, No. 4. He leaves two sons, J. Sewell Read and Charles F. Read.

REV. DR. CHARLES M. LAMSON.

Death came without warning Tuesday morning to Rev. Dr. Charles M. Lamson of Hartford, Ct., President of the American Board of Commissioners of Foreign Missions who has been residing in St. Johnsbury, Vt., where he was formerly settled. With his wife and youngest son, Dr. Lamson had been out for a short bicycle ride. He stopped to rest before returning, when the trouble seized him. Pains and shortness of breath prevented his riding further, and he was taken to his summer home in a carriage. A physician was quickly summoned, but death followed soon after.

He was born on a farm in North Hadley, May 16, 1818, and there his mother still lives. He was a student at Williston seminary, and then went to Amherst college, where he was graduated in 1844. He spent the next year studying in Germany. Then he taught Latin and English for four years in Amherst college. In 1849 he became pastor of the Porter Congregational church in Brookton. From there in 1871 he was called to the pastorate of the Salem street Congregational church in Worcester, where he remained for 14 years. He did solid work inside his parish and for the community. He was a member of the school committee for six years, director of the city library, and interested in all municipal affairs. While there Amherst gave him his degree of D.D. In 1885 he accepted the call to the North Congregational church in St. Johnsbury.

MISS CORA W. HASTINGS.

The friends of Miss Cora W. Hastings, dates, '95, will be pained to learn of her death which occurred Sunday afternoon at the Maine General hospital, Portland, as the result of a surgical operation. Miss Hastings taught school at Bethel for a year after graduation, going thence to Chicago University, where she passed two years in study. During the past year she has been librarian at Grinnell college in Iowa. She was one of the ablest of her class at Bates, a young lady of sweet and winning personality. Her friends were on their way to call on her Sunday, almost at the hour when her death occurred.

A NEIGHBORHOOD ROW.

An Irish woman, large and strong, became engaged in a quarrel with a Hebrew woman on Fore street yesterday afternoon. The cause of the row was a neighborhood dispute. The Hebrew woman struck the other woman over the head with a bucket and was getting a little the worse of the fight when the Hebrew woman's husband took a hand in the affair and aimed a blow at the head of his wife's antagonist with a piece of plank. Other men and women in the vicinity were preparing to take a hand in the mill and the excitement was running very high when Patrolman Madden in citizen's clothes happened along and the crowd scattered. No arrests were made and only a black eye or so and a little cut on the head of the Irish woman resulted from the encounter.

EIGHTH MAINE.

Reunion of Comrades at Peaks Island Yesterday.

It Was Largely Attended and Money Was Raised to Wipe Out All Debts.

"How are you, comrade?" was the salutation which was heard to pass along the long porch of the building of the 8th Maine Regiment at Peaks Island Wednesday as the old soldiers filed in to attend the annual meeting of the association which was called to order by Major J. H. H. Hewitt of Thomaston. The first thing in order was the reading of the reports of the secretary and treasurer, after which Rev. H. A. Philbrook of Middleton, Conn., introduced the following resolution:

"That the commissioners of pensions be requested to announce for publication the names of the pensioners of those who are granted pension or an increase of pensions, as well as the names and addresses of the pensioners."

The mover of the resolution explained that the object of it was to fix the identity of applicants, etc., and it was received with favor. The election of officers followed and these were chosen: President, J. C. Littlefield, Melrose; vice-presidents, Levi Metcalf, Malden; Noah B. Dunton, Cleveland, Nevada; Chas. Robinson, Sherman Mills; secretary and treasurer, Capt. P. G. Ingalls, Hazzardville; executive committee, Lt. H. B. Sawyer, Auburn; Wallace Smith, Auburn; George L. Dutch, North Berwick; chaplain, Rev. H. A. Philbrook, Middleton, Conn. memorial committee, Rev. H. A. Philbrook, Conn. Harry Boynton, Augusta; Geo. Dunton, Natick.

The report of the trustees was then read which touched upon the repairs that had been made in the building, and Capt. Hillman Smith of Thomaston gave a list of expenditures for the past year and closed with a ringing speech in which he detailed the work which he had done as custodian, and pledged his continued interest in all that would further the good of the association. The members got right to work to raise a sum of money sufficient to wipe out all debts and were successful to a degree that was satisfactory to everybody. It was a gathering marked with the strongest feelings of the best comradeship. Those present were: Gen. Henry Boynton, Augusta; Col. John Hemmingsway, Springfield; Col. E. A. True, Boston; Rev. H. A. Philbrook, Middletown, Conn.; Capt. F. Ingalls, Hazzardville; Capt. A. S. Bump, Wilton; Capt. America Walton, Lowell; Capt. W. W. Wiley, Belfast; Capt. L. B. Rogers, Patten; Lt. H. B. Sawyer, Auburn; Lt. E. G. Guphill, Goshburg; Lt. N. B. Dunton, Cleveland, Nevada; Capt. Hiram Parker, Glenburn; Alvin Hardy, Wilton; W. B. Pinkham, Oakland; G. M. Fletcher, Bangor; C. Macomber, Jay; C. Howard, Lewiston; John E. Hilton, Houlton; Geo. W. Durgin, Sherman; J. L. Thompson, Alfred; W. Ricker, East Auburn; J. M. Shackle, Camden; George E. Dunton, Natick; Commissioner J. M. Robbins, Lewiston; E. O. Robinson, Raymond; Chas. Bennett, Alfred; J. C. Littlefield, Boston; G. L. Dacey, Boston; S. Gilman, Strong; Josiah Libby, North Turner; William Camwell, Wilton; P. Marston, Andover; Randall Gallahan, Lisbon; S. J. Lagrow, Norway; L. M. Clark, W. D. South, Portland; Caspar M. Marshall, Portland.

The list of the dead of the past year included the following: Surgeon H. C. Lovensheller, Thomaston; Capt. John H. Roberts, Chelsea; Sergeant John C. Cotton, Cambridge; John E. Blaisdell, Somerville, N. H.; Owen Knox, Berwick; Benjamin Perkins, Burnham George H. Perkins, Atlantic City, N. J.; Charles H. Crowley, Wayne; James Dunsting, Waterville; Peter Pero, Waterville; Cyrus E. Metcalf, East Auburn; Nathaniel Wentworth, Boston; Adjutant Spencer W. Young, Kennebunk; Thomas Senter, Dixfield; John McClellan, Lubec.

FUNERAL OF FRANK SWEETSER.

The funeral of Frank E. Sweetser, who was drowned in the ferry slip accident at Bar Harbor on Sunday, occurred on yesterday afternoon. At half past two o'clock prayers were said at the residence of Col. E. C. Milliken and at three o'clock the services in the West End Congregational church were held. The church was crowded to the very doors and a great many who attended the services were obliged to stand during the exercises. Nearly all of the clerical forces of the Maine Central were present as well as a delegation from Bramhall Lodge, K. of P., and many friends and acquaintances of the young man. The floral tributes were very elaborate and costly there being twenty-one sets placed with a great many smaller ones. The altar and casket were almost hidden from sight by the flowers. Among them was a magnificent floral garland from the clerks of the auditor's department of the Maine Central and other floral designs from President Wilson, General Passenger Agent Boothby and other officials of the railroad. Music was furnished by a quartette composed of Messrs. Davis, Tracy, Evans and Mitchell. Addresses were delivered by Rev. Mr. Philip Dunbar and Rev. Mr. Charles Garland, both of whom were friends of the deceased. The interment was at Evergreen cemetery.

THE BOATING CARNIVAL.

When the people see the parade of beautiful boats next Saturday afternoon they will exclaim, "Isn't this beautiful?" The boating carnival is the one great event of summer. It is only at the most fashionable summer resorts where they have it, and Portland harbor is fast becoming one of the most celebrated seaside resorts in the State of Maine.

FIFTH MAINE.

Meeting of Stockholders of Memorial Building Yesterday.

At Peaks Island Wednesday afternoon there was a meeting of the stockholders of the Fifth Maine Memorial Building association which was presided over by Col. Millett.

The report of the secretary and treasurer was read and there was some discussion as to the legality of the expenditures which have been made for the repair of the kitchen. A committee of three was chosen to nominate directors for the ensuing year and these were elected: Gen. H. Manning, Lewiston; J. J. Edwards, N. Auburn; L. N. R. Longue, Nashua, N. H.; John T. Nesbitt, New York; Capt. H. F. Bucknam, Mechanic Falls; John H. Stevens, Berwick; John Kelley, Boston.

James N. Fernald of Lewiston was elected clerk and Frank Goss, Lewiston, treasurer.

A crayon picture of Lieut. James White of Las Vegas, N. Mexico, was presented to the association by his son E. M. White of Old Orchard and his daughter, Mrs. L. M. Little of South Windham, which Col. Millett accepted in behalf of the stockholders in a fitting speech in which he dwelt upon the gallantry and efficient services during the war, of Lieut. White, a former member of Fifth Maine.

AT SEBAGO LAKE.

One of the events of the week at Sebago Lake, was an impromptu progressive whist party held at the Sebago Lake house on Friday evening, Miss Farrell of Cambridge, and Mr. Preto of Newtonville, Mass., carrying off the honors. Later the guests were entertained by Mr. Schirmer of Boston, who, as a mind reader, gave many proofs of his skill and ability in that direction.

The guests then adjourned to the parlor where Miss Hyman of New York, favored them with a few selections from "A Runaway Girl" and Mr. Preto and Miss Stowe added much to the pleasure of the evening by dancing the cake walk. This was followed by general dancing, the entraining music being played by Miss Taaffe of New York. Refreshments were served after the dance. Among the guests out of town were Messrs. O. F. Johnson of London; E. W. Cates, L. Cates, F. A. Schirmer of Boston, who were making an extended trip through the New England States; Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Eargant of Montana; Mr. and Mrs. I. Goldman and son, Mr. Wight and the Misses Donnell, Hyman and Taaffe of New York; the Misses Flood, Farrell and Sullivan of Cambridge; Miss Stowe of Dorchester, and Mr. Preto of Newtonville, Mass.

Rev. G. F. Cleaves and family, have returned from a vacation spent at Yarmouth.

THE NORTHFIELD CONFERENCE.

The Conference for Christian Workers which began in Northfield, August 1st, and is to continue through the 30th, is the largest ever held in that place. It is especially remarkable for the very large attendance of ministers. Rev. G. Campbell Morgan of London, has already begun his teaching, and Rev. F. B. May will arrive in a day or two. There is a noticeable spirit of earnest desire and prayer for a general revival; some believe that this great conference is itself an evidence that such a revival is coming. The last week of the conference is to include a conference of Christian Endeavorers, conducted by John Willis Baer of the United Society, Dr. F. B. Clark and Rev. Chas. M. Sheldon, the well known author, have also promised to be present. Mr. Moody has opened the dormitories at Mt. Hermon for the accommodation of guests, and all who wish to attend will have no difficulty in finding boarding places, although it would be well to arrange for them in advance. Hundreds came in for the Sunday services, some driving from a distance of 40 miles or more.

THE COURTS.

Cases Taken Up and Considered in the Law Court.

Judge Hill Has Busy Morning in Municipal Court.

In the law court Tuesday afternoon the action of Charles, Pierce vs. the Bangor and Aroostook R. R., was orally argued, Hudson & Durgin for the plaintiff. Appleton and Champlin for the defendant. The facts of this case are as follows: In 1890 the plaintiff owned a storehouse in the town of Milo and adjacent to the line of the defendant corporation. From a blaze started on land owned by the railroad the plaintiff's storehouse was ignited and with its contents burned to the ground.

In a suit for damages, the presiding justice at nisi prius trial ruled that the railroad was liable and a verdict for $4,012.43 was recovered. From this the defendant appeals. Yesterday morning the Penobscot docket was taken up. The first action to be argued was Lewis Cowan vs. the Bangor & Oldtown Railway company. Laughlin Z. Robinson for the plaintiff. Ryer & Dunn for the defense. This is an action for personal injuries alleged to have been received by the plaintiff through the negligent conduct of a conductor, while he was a passenger on one of the company's cars. Defense contended that the plaintiff was intoxicated and fell into the street. Verdict was returned for the defense and to this verdict plaintiff files exceptions as not in accord with the evidence.

The next action was that of Gertrude Jamison vs. Dr. G. Gilmore Weld, Gillin & Bailey for the plaintiff. Carleton & Gould for the defense. It is alleged by the plaintiff that in a bicycle accident she injured the elbow joint of her right arm and the defendant, a surgeon, was called to attend to the injury. Through his negligence and improper treatment, it is alleged, the plaintiff's elbow was permanently injured. At nisi prius she recovered a verdict of $500.

Yesterday afternoon was being argued the action of Frank E. Moore vs. Edward Stetson, et al., an action of tort to recover damages for personal injuries sustained. It is alleged that the defendants are the owners and operators of a certain marine railway, that during 1897 the schooner "Golden Rod" of which the plaintiff was mate was received for repairs and that while engaged in assisting the making of such repairs the plaintiff was struck by a block of granite, in consequence of which he sustained a fracture of his leg with other severe injuries, for which he asks damages in the sum of $3,000. At nisi prius a verdict of $800 was recovered. Defense files exceptions and asks for a new trial.

The policy men who were arrested Tuesday evening were not before the court yesterday but probably will be today. The four named above were those arrested Saturday night.

THE EARTH'S CRUST BROKEN.

A strange formation in the earth's surface appears in the Crawford Notch of the White Mountains. When the molten mass of which our world was originally composed, began the process of coagulation there was much resistance by the gases which were thus confined, and in many places the earth's surface was disturbed by volcanic upheavals which formed the towering mountains and the valleys between, which in time became covered with verdure. At no point was this breaking of the earth's crust made more striking than in the Crawford Notch.

You can see it all by going on the Maine Central excursion next Friday to Fabyan's and return.

Four hours at any of the mountain houses. Tickets one dollar and a half. Connection made with trains from and to Kennebunk, Biddeford, Saco and Old Orchard.

BRIEF JOTTINGS.

Yesterday afternoon a big crowd of Italians arrived in Portland on the Maine Central. They are on their way up the Grand Trunk where they are to do some work.

The new fire escapes which the hotels and boarding houses must adopt under the new city ordinance on that subject, was on exhibition yesterday in the City building. It is merely a long rope with a loop to go under the arms and a patent device to prevent a too rapid descent.

A meeting of the committee on lights was called yesterday afternoon by Councilman Waldron. Mr. Waldron was the only member of the committee in attendance and the meeting was postponed.

The office of the British vice-consulate has been moved from its old quarters on Exchange street to a fine, commodious office in the basement of the First National bank building.

The postoffice at Cape Cottage was established yesterday and from now on mails will be received and sent out from this place three times during the day. Mr. J. W. Armstrong has been appointed postmaster and the postoffice will be in the store building on Cottage street, opposite the theatre.

Dr. F. W. Huntington is thinking of holding another class meeting at Rigby park some time in September. Of course his future action will depend somewhat upon the success of the coming meet. The horsemen are very anxious to have such a meet in September and the chances are that it would be well patronized.

The city is now remarkably free from contagious disease. No case has been reported to the board of health since August 2.

A street department gang is now engaged in grading the sidewalks on several streets in East Deering. The proposed Franklin and St. John sewers will be 8-inch pipe and of 600 and 800 feet in length, to be put in the Brown street sewer.

The review of Sunday morning sermons on the Book of Genesis by Rev. Dr. McAllister in Pine street M. E. church, are attracting good congregations and are very interesting and instructive. The subject next Sunday morning will be "The Confusion of Tongues."

The next annual reunion of the Fifth Maine Battery association, will be held at the Soldiers' Home at Togus, on September 11, 1899.

It is related that a well-known Auburn young lady, who was yachting in the Portland yacht club, during the visit of the North Atlantic squadron to Portland, has caused to remember it, the yacht being caught "in irons" by a heavy squall and going over so far that the young lady was swept out of the stateroom and caught only by the hem of her garments and the toe of her boot as she was disappearing over the side.—Lewiston Journal.

Stated convention of Bramhall lodge, No. 3, K. of P., at Casco hall at 8 o'clock this evening. The rank of equine will be conferred. All visiting knights in the city are cordially invited to be present.

A man who gave his name as Maxwell was pretty well intoxicated last night and an attempt was made to rob him while he stood on the corner of Federal and Exchange streets. Some men who were standing nearby drove away but would be told and Maxwell was locked up for the night in the police station.

A GREAT SUCCESS.

First Day's Shoot at Interstate Tournament.

The Amateurs Made a Great Record for Themselves.

There Were Fifty-Five in All

And Over Eight Thousand Targets Were Thrown.

The Portland Gun club may well feel proud of the unqualified success of the first day of the interstate tournament, for in regard to attendance, amount of shooting and enjoyment from a shooting point of view, it was a record breaker for the state, and has never before been exceeded in the whole country. The accommodations were ample, and the shooting continuous from 8.30 a. m. until 7 o'clock p. m. The entries numbered 55 and over 8000 targets were thrown. Under the efficient management of Mr. Elmer E. Shaner, the programme was run out without a hitch of any kind to mar the enjoyment. The contestants are divided into two classes, the professionals and amateurs. The former are barred from participating in the purses, as it is purely business with them to show their wares, and show what will result from the skillfulness of the shot gun. The amateurs were out in full force, the following clubs being represented: Auburn, Waterville, Gardiner, Bath, Lewiston. From out of the state came Schermerhorn of the Emerald Gun club of New York city; Griffith of Pascoag, R. I.; Eager and Howe of Marlboro, Wheeler of Worcester, Lilly of Indianapolis, and Peck of Boston. A glance at the following scores will show that the local talent gave an excellent account of themselves, when it is considered that they were competing with the best talent in the country.

YOUNG GIRLS WERE FIGHTING.
About nine o'clock last evening three or four young girls about fourteen years old got into a fight on Fore street, near the corner of Pearl. They were surrounded by a crowd of men and boys who were encouraging them in their attempt to scratch one another's eyes out when Patrolmen Elery and Pillsbury appeared on the scene. The crowd scattered like chaff before the wind when the officers came in sight and the girls by dint of hard running managed to get away. Those who saw the affair described it as brutal in the extreme.

WEDDINGS.

MAIN—CUSHING.

A very pretty wedding occurred Wednesday evening at 636 Forest avenue, Morris corner, the contracting parties being Miss Carrie E. R. Main, a daughter of Mrs. Ward by her first marriage, and Mr. Edward O. Cushing of Freeport, a well-known teacher of music and at present organist of the Universalist church of Biddeford. The wedding ceremony was performed in an impressive manner by Rev. H. F. Moulton, pastor of the Universalist church of Biddeford, in the presence of a large number of the relatives and friends of the contracting parties. A novel idea was carried out in the ceremony, in that the bride couple stood upon the front steps of the house beneath a bower of ferns and golden rod and two large American flags, while the guests were seated upon the lawn which was gayly decorated with Japanese lanterns. The bride party entered the presence of the guests escorted by the bride procession. The maid of honor was Miss Lillian M. Rowe of Woodford, who was becomingly gowned in a dress of lavender tulle over white silk. The bride looked charming in her dress of white tulle over white silk.

The best man was Mr. C. Arthur Warren of Portland. The page was L. Bartlett Ward, a nephew of the bride, and the flower girl Miss Alida Brooks Ward, a sister of the bride, gowned in white silk over sarras silk. The ushers were Mr. Elijah J. Main and Mr. J. Walker Ward of Boston, brothers of the bride; George Dodge and George Clark of Portland. After the wedding ceremony an informal reception was held, during which a delightful musical programme, rendered by Prof. Ward and several pupils, was carried out. Refreshments were served during the evening. The young couple were the recipients of a large number of useful and valuable presents. Among these present from out of town were Mrs. Annie Bartlett, Beaumont, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. J. Walker Ward, Cambridge, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. Harris Cushing, parents of the groom, Freeport; George and Malcolm Cushing and Miss Mary Cushing, Freeport; Mr. Joseph True, Freeport; Mrs. Roscoe Pettengill and daughter, Anna, Freeport.

Mr. Cushing is a former pupil of Prof. Ward, and is a successful music teacher, having large classes in Biddeford and Saco, Freeport, Westbrook and Portland. After a brief wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Cushing are to reside at 17 Mechanic street, Woodford, where they will be at home to their friends, Thursday after October 1.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

Portland, Aug. 10, 1899.

THE "Cozy Corner" isn't complete unless there's half a dozen Cushions scattered about in it.

The "den" is no den at all without the added luxury of a few big pillows.

The modern fashion of decoration makes pillows in the parlor imperative and there's a place for pillows in the library chairs, in the billiard room, nooks in the boudoir and chamber to say nothing of the boat, the hammock and upstairs and down stairs in the summer cottage.

Emphatically, Cushions are the vogue, and there's such a variety of style and shape and color, and withal there's so much real utility about them, no wonder they're in popular favor more than ever before.

One of our show windows today exhibits some new models which we have had finished—embroidered mostly, ruffled edge or corded or simply piped, and though they only represent a very few of the novelties which the needle-work department is overflowing with, they'll tempt you perhaps to have a look at the others here.

Half a dozen styles of "Smoke" Cushions—pipes tobacco, jars, match boxes, cigarettes and all the accessories that delight a smoker's heart and start reveries, stamped in colors and outlined with silkene embroidery. One design introduces a "full hand" of cards, the bright colors of which lighten the sombreness of the tobacco tones. Another has a musical design, violins and things, a bar of music, etc., either of these are appropriate enough in their place and are specially fit for what is known as the "den." For embroiderers who are patient enough to put a lot of work into it, this new cross-stitch canvas cushion has possibilities. Coarse cotton duck pillows with boat and fishing and other designs appropriate to the summer and outing season. These are good for yachts and the piazza. For the children's rooms there are two or three cat designs, a fully worked out picture in colors.

The Needlework department also displays now many new ideas in doilies, centre pieces, tray cloths, small table cloths and other things on linen commenced or finished ready for use or only stamped.

2 JEWELLED ELGIN WATCHES

A GOOD WATCH

Is a great convenience. A poor one a great annoyance. The Waltham and Elgin Watches are the best.

That's the kind we sell. We have 500 of them.

We sell the most watches because we sell lower, $5.00 to $100.00. Pleased to show you.
